All courses are accredited according to the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS).

TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS

- Fully functional device (laptop, tablet, PC)
- Stable internet connection
- Software: Zoom (video/audio)

- Registration on Moodle (HU's e-learning platform)
- Recommended hardware: external headset for better sound quality

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Learning extends beyond your virtual course! As a participant in HUWISU, you are invited to join cultural, social, and academic programs. Cultural activities are designed to help students meet fellow international students, learn more about Berlin, and practice German language abilities. Apply what you learn in class, share your extracurricular interests, and expand your social network beyond your course through these programs!

VIRTUAL ACTIVITIES

With the support of the online format, HUWISU introduces new cultural and social activities. The cultural activities will be both synchronous and asynchronous.

Our scheduled live meetings might include games, cooking/baking together, or a trivia night. You still have the unique opportunity to build community across time zones and meet your fellow international students through synchronous programming. More information about the specifics is TBA.

Learn and read about Berlin history or German culture in between classes! No matter your field of study or interests, Berlin has artistic, political, and cultural significance. Take a look at the eBook "Perspectives on Berlin". It will include an extensive collection of digital resources about Berlin. Although you may be oceans away from Germany, connecting ourselves to Humboldt-Universität's culturally and historically rich location is still incredibly valuable.

EXPECTATIONS & POLICIES

Preparation for lively discussions in the virtual classroom: be on time, have at least the required readings completed, and points in mind for discussion or clarification.

Assignments: complete all assignments according to the specified requirements on the schedule including handing them over to the lecturer.

Commitment in online-class: pay particular attention to the lecturer and respect differences of opinions (classmates', lecturers).

Academic guidelines: Comply with academic integrity policies (such as no plagiarism or cheating, nothing unethical) especially the academic honor code and the student code of conduct.

Attendance policy: No unexcused absences are permitted. Students must contact their class teachers to catch up on missed work – to excuse absence please contact the HUWISU office.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course examines the multidisciplinary intersection of and relationship between two major regimes: Forced Migration and Sustainable Development.

The seminars start with an introduction to the Forced Migration regime, with special attention being given to the evolving norms, institutions, and procedures that have emerged from the international community's resolve to protect refugees, internally displaced persons (IDPs) and stateless persons. The initial seminars will also consider the environment-mobility nexus.

Students will then take a look at recent initiatives to further the protection of refugees (Global Refugee Forum and Global Compact on Refugees), to improve the effectiveness of humanitarian response to IDP situations (Transformative Agenda), and to address migration in general (Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration) and migration and development, in particular (Global Forum on Migration and Development).

The seminars will also be an occasion to discuss the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the UN Sustainable Development Goals (in particular Goal 16: Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all, and build effective, accountable, and inclusive institutions at all levels).

Towards the end of the course students will analyze both development initiatives that may produce forced displacement, and those that may be implemented in areas that receive forced migrants.

The sessions and ensuing discussions will be based on state-of-the-art literature and on documents from international organizations on both Forced Migration and Sustainable Development.

COURSE OBJECTIVES AND LEARNING OUTCOMES

This course aims to introduce the students to the multidisciplinary intersection of and relationship between the forced migration and the sustainable development regimes.

By the end of this course students will be expected to:

- Have gained a comprehensive understanding of the forced migration and sustainable development regimes
- Have gained familiarity with the various and recent forced migration and sustainable development initiatives, and seminal policy initiatives and instruments
- Have developed a detailed understanding of the interplay between forced migration & sustainable development

READINGS

Reading materials will be available via Moodle during the course.

ASSIGNMENT INFO

In order to be granted 5 ECTS, participants will be asked to actively attend all sessions (not more than one synchronous session may be missed), to submit one assignment for each teaching session, and to successfully pass a final exam.

The final grade will be composed of both the student's active participation in the course and submission of the weekly assignments (50%), and the final exam (50%).
